The Glendale murder mystery is no nearer a solution than when the unfortunate girl's dead body was found last Sunday morning in the lonely little clearing in the thicket back of Meyer's cigarette factory on the Fresh Pond

Coroner Homeyer and his aides, Detective-Sergeant Miller and Constable Ernest Brech-

CORONER HOMEYER

When the Coroner got up this morning he hurried over to the little Morgue with so much haste that bystanders were led to believe he was fearful the corpse itself might have disappeared during the night together with all other clues, but if the Coroner had any such fears they were quickly dispelled when he opened the Morgue door.

The body was still there and had not been disturbed. The Coroner heaved a big sigh of relief and announced that there were no new developments and that he would "start all

THE COBONER IS ANGRY.

Mr. Homeyer was evidently not in good humor. He was still angry at the way he had been treated by Identifier No. 2, who told him yesterday that he was Charles Reed, of Darien, Conn., that he danced with the girl two years ago at Savin Rock, near New Haven, where Jennie Cramer met her tragic death, and that he had seen the man " Aabe ' with the now dead girl on the Brooklyn Bridge Saturday evening and the man alone at Rockaway Beach on Sunday.

The Coroner took Reed to Rockaway, and that was the last the Coroner saw of him.

District-Attorney Fleming was at Ridge-wood this morning and looked disgusted with the situation. He was energetic in his denial that he was actively engaged on the case. In spite of the authorities, a theory generally entertained in Ridgewood is that the girl's death was caused by Weber himself, or ome one employed by him, and it is believed.

The officers learned, however, that a strange minutes nan and woman were seen by Mairby Powier. a well-known resident, at North Haven on Saturday. Their description, he said, was the same as that given by Flagman Lake of the man he saw in company with a woman at the Fresh Pond crossing Saturday night. He were a gray suit and a stouch hat.

WHERE IS ADOLPH TELLER?
The officers were struck by another coincidence. Adolph Teller, proprietor of a road nouse a short distance from North Haven, disanneared on Saturday last and has not been clue, and is being worked up. TIMES THE FAVORITE WON Menmouth's Proposal for a Race Between Kingston and Longstreet.

There will be no more match races at present. The fact that the Longstreet-Tenny race will not be run off Saturday was reported in THE EVENING WORLD'S Sporting Extra yesterday. Longstreet's race down the bill Baturday night did not do him any good. Mr. Dwyer said that the colt had strained a ten don, which necessitated a let-up in the work of the horse. Of course it would be out of the question to race Longstreet. Mr. Dwyer, however, like a true sportsman, is willing and suftable distance and any track but that at

Mr. Pulsifer says Tenny has also gone amiss. No doubt the public would like, and have a reasonable right to know just what the swayback's condition is. It was impossible tolearn yesterday. The fact is that Mr. Pulffer has developed an unusual antipathy to reporters, though why no one is able to learn.

A representative of THE WORLD yesterday asked Mr. Pulatier what troubled Tenny. He eferred the reporter in a very curt manner to the trainer of his stable, "Snip" Donovan. The latter answered the reporter's questions

The latter answered the reporter's questions in the fellowing strain, with eyes gazing into space, and in a tone so low that one could scarcely hear him.

"Gone amiss, gone amiss? Well, res, I guess there is something the matter with Tenny. Oh. ne, it's not bad enough to throw him out of training. Will not go into any sweepstakes Saturday. No, the hill at Morris Park didn't make him tame. May be he's suicking. Tes, I guess he's suiking." From this bright explanation it may be deduced that there is nothing the matter with Tenny save that he is suiking. The truth of the matter seems to be that Mr. Pulatier has been barking up the wrong tree. The Dwyer stable is evidently two too many for even the great swayback.

An interesting group stood upon the lawn at Jerome Park yesterday. The persons comprising it were Mr. John A. Morris, the proprietor of Monris Park; Mr. D. D. Withers, proprietor of Monmouth Park, and Mr. T. F. Walbaum, President of the Hudson County Jeckey Club. They were sagerly surreyed by hundreds of eyes. Sinddenly the earnest conversation ceased. Mr. Walbaum smiled and patted Mr. Withers and Mr. Morris on the back in a patronizing way, and the three separated. "It's sil' right," said those who were watching the group. "Guttenburg will get its days." It was true. Monmouth agreed to give up Mondays and Fridays to Guttenburg and there will be no clash of dates. But who would have thought that the mighty, powerful Monmouth Park Association would ever recognize any claim the hill-top track would put forth. The Monmouth people, bewever, left that discretion was the better part of valor and knew that Guttenburg was a very powerful antagonist.
